Forecast for Thursday 30 Jun 2022

Weather: Dry in the early hours but becoming cloudy, with some heavy rain spreading from the south around dawn, a low risk of thunder. A wet start to the day but the rain easing by mid morning then brightening in afternoon with sunny intervals and scattered heavy showers with the chance of thunder. Becoming dry with clearing skies in the evening.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 800m: 20% in morning, improving from the south, rising 90% in afternoon generally.

Low Cloud and visibility: Cloud descending to 500-800m and occasionally 300m in Aberdeenshire and Angus later in night and into morning rain bringing very poor visibility to the tops and occasionally poor visibility due to rain below the cloud. Improvements soon reaching Ochils and spreading north as cloud lifts above the tops and breaks and low level visibility becomes mainly good. Occasionally poor in the heaviest afternoon showers with patchy hill fog in their wake. .
